

Fruit Bat

WATCH NOW

Memory Verse

Therefore let us stop passing judgement on one another.

Romans 14:13

Key Phrase

Having a different perspective helps us learn more about others.

Reflective Question

How will you try looking from a different perspective today?

More Conversation Starters:

- How can you show someone that you are listening to them?
- How do we know that someone is really listening to us when we talk?
- When a person comes to class, or a friend seems "different" from others, how can we respond?
- If someone pushed you, what could you say?
- When your friends feel differently from you about the same things, what could you do to figure out each other's perspectives?

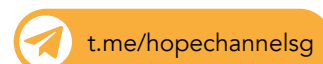

Tip #6 for having great conversations with your child

Make conversations with your child a judgment-free zone. Before you begin, tell yourself to practice active listening — listening without giving advice or your opinion. If your child asks the question back to you or you take turns asking questions, answer those. But when your child is answering — simply Listen. Pause. Think.

(Pssst, get more tips in the other family fun packs!)

Follow us for bonus content, educational resources, and more!

WORD HUNT

M L N I G H T R E F

J U P S I D E R E R

L A N D A R K I L U

N L N O H T E S E I

F I N G E R S S P T

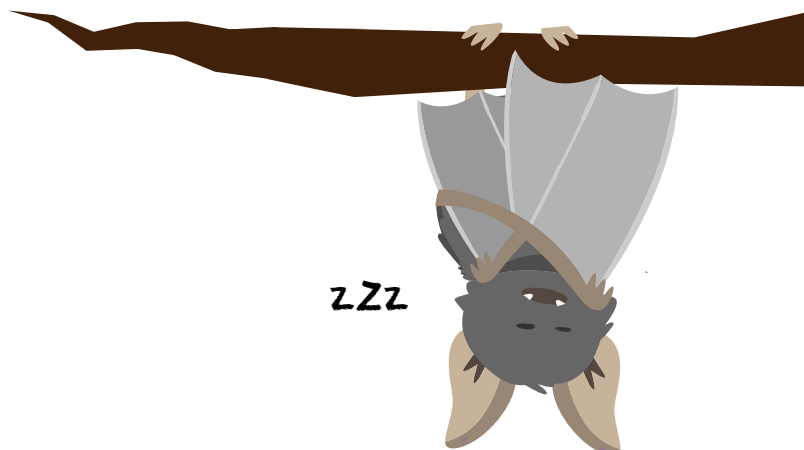

Bats have teeny tiny _____.

Most bats love eating _____ and drinking nectar from flowers.

During the day, bats rest in _____ places called roosts.

Almost all bats hang _____ down when roosting.

They have pretty good eyesight to help them see at _____.

Will you help me fly?

Connect the Dots

Help the fruitbat fly. Fix its wings by connecting the dots according to the alphabet.

Having a different perspective helps us learn more about others.

zZz

